WE NOMINATE

Carl Kaysen, economist, teacher and adviser to Presidents of the United States, who this month steps into one of the most prestigious and demanding posts in the whole sweep of American learning — the directorship of Princeton's Institute for Advanced Study. At age 46, a decade older than the remarkable institution he now heads, the versatile Kaysen, a native of Philadelphia, succeeds Robert Oppenheimer and becomes fourth director of the Institute which was brought into being in 1930 with Bamberger millions "for the pursuit of advanced learning and exploration in fields of pure science and high scholarship."

The unanimous choice of the Institute's 15-member Board of Trustees, and the first social scientist tapped for the assignment, Kaysen has indicated that he will make haste slowly in working with a well-balanced staff numbering only 28 permanent faculty members and approximately 120 top-notch scholars holding short-term appointments. "My immediate plan," he said, "is to sit and listen and learn something about what the people in the Institute think, and to develop some idea how the Institute might evolve. The growth of an academic institute has to be a slow process. It has to grow from within."

The son of a wholesale diamond merchant, and a Phi Beta Kappa member of the Class of 1940 at the University of Pennsylvania, Kaysen in the spring of 1942 went to Washington to work for the Office of Strategic Services as a research analyst on German military and economic capacity. A year later he volunteered for the Air Force, where he rose to the rank of captain and, for the duration, served largely in England in intelligence. After the war, as a graduate student, he started his continuing affiliation with Harvard that was culminated several years ago by his appointment as Littauer Professor of Political Economy and as Associate Dean of the Graduate School of Public Administration.

Kaysen, law clerk for Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. in the celebrated United States Shoe Machinery Trust Suit and now an anti-trust authority, has held highly confidential jobs with the Department of Defense, the Department of State and the Attorney General's Office. A "New Frontiersman" from the very beginning, he was Deputy Special Assistant for National Security Affairs under President Kennedy and has been a valued consultant to the Johnson administration. In 1963, for instance, he was one of the small group of experts who helped negotiate the partial ban on nuclear tests with the then Premier Khrushchev in Moscow.

In forging the record which caught and held "the eye" of the Institute's Trustees, Kaysen, a twice-a-week squash player (when his schedule permits) and an enthusiastic Cape Cod sailor during the summer months, spent a year as a Visiting Fulbright Professor at the London School of Economics, studed American aid to Greece under a Ford Foundation grant, wrote two standard texts and served with distinction in an infinite variety of Washington jobs. In the Cuban missile crisis he "dealt with all of the other business that came in" and promptly became known among President Kennedy's staff as "vice-president in charge of the rest of the world."

For possessing those qualities of mind and imagination which bode well for the distinguished leadership of the Institute in the years ahead; for undertaking a challenging and adventurous job of tremendous significance to the Princeton Community and to the world of which it seeks to serve; he is our nominee as

PARKING GARAGES?

"Immediately." The Borough will take the responsibility for the construction of multi-level parking garages in the central business district, "immediately we hope," stated Arthur P. Morgan, chairman of the Borough Planning Board last week as the Board released the "Business Area" study prepared by Raymond and May Associates, Borough planning consultants.

"We want to encourage the building of these garages in the central business district and make pedestrian access more pleasant," Mr. Morgan continued.

He said the Borough did not yet know exactly how it would "encourage" private enterprise to build the garage. The Raymond and May report recommends shifting the primary responsibility for providing off-street parking from private owners to the Borough, in accordance with an equitable, but unspecified, financing plan.

"The central business district is slowly choking to death," Mr. Morgan observed, "and something MUST be done."

No Parking. The Business Area report recommends eliminating all curb parking gradually along major streets. As the garages are built. On Nassau Street, elimination of curb parking would free two more lanes for traffic.

Mr. Morgan said flatly that the Borough "cannot—will not — serve any longer as the primary shopping area."

Large retail stores, big supermarkets and the like are out, now and permanently, Mr. Morgan stated. "We hope the ones that are here now, will move elsewhere."

The Planning Board wants the center of town to consist of "local" shops: shoe repair; book shops; dry cleaning establishments; professional offices for lawyers, stock brokers, architects; men's and women's specialty shops, antique shops.

Plan Ahead. No definite sites for the garages were specified by Mr. Morgan. However, Palmer Square, Inc. indicated months ago that it plans eventually to erect such a garage, probably on the "Playhouse" parking lot, and Raymond and May's planners have taken this lot, joined it to the area west of the Princeton Playhouse that will be made available when that section of John Street is wiped out by the construction of the new Jackson Street, and linked this "block" by overpass with the present Chambers Street lot, to create a large apartment-parking-office plaza. (See sketch.)

"This is only one way we might treat the central business," Mr. Morgan emphasized, "and it isn't necessarily what we will do. It's just a way we COULD lay it out."

The planners picked this area because it's a place where business expansion could occur now time, and is also the location far most of the parking now serving the central area. It is owned almost entirely by Palmer Square, Inc.

In their proposal, the planners considered two factors: the 20-foot downhill slope between Nassau and Jackson, and the "extremely attractive civic design embodied in Palmer Square."

Park, Live, Work. They suggest one and two-level parking garages with a total capacity of 1,300 to 1,400 cars. (The Wilbur Smith traffic survey showed present parking demands in the core area of 1,225 cars.) The garages would be designed to capitalize on that 20-foot dip, and would be partially below ground level.

Garage roofs would be landscaped as pedestrian plazas with tree-shaded, inter-connecting open spaces rather like college quadrangles. Pedestrians would reach the plazas by short flights of steps at various places along Jackson, Chambers Street Extension or Hulfish.

Office or apartment buildings would be built on top of the garages, arranged in an informal manner to harmonize with nearby Palmer Square. Offices could surround the little courts at plaza level, with apartments above, as on Palmer Square. The two main areas could be connected, as on the sketch, by a Hulfish overpass.

THIS IS PRINCETON: The Borough is ready now to put through the "New Jackson Street" and the "Chambers Street Extension" from Nassau, so this sketch isn't quite so far out as it looks. A "Business Area" report from the Borough's planners proposes shops and apartments in tree-planted plazas on top of bi-level parking garages. For the future, perhaps a plaza on top of Witherspoon and Spring (shaded area.) Details in "This is Princeton."

In time, the planners suggest, part of Witherspoon and Spring Streets could be roofed over, accommodating two parking levels underneath and another area of retail shops and/or apartments on the top. (shaded area on sketch)

Land Could Be Freed. At present, Raymond and May point out, almost six acres of private property are devoted to parking yards in the heart of the business district. With parking garages, they believe, less than one-third of this space would be needed, and present business space in the core area could be doubled on the remaining four acres.

By using for commercial purposes land in the B1 and B2 business districts that is now vacant or occupied by homes, the Borough could triple the retail-office floor area, and "if every under-utilized parcel were re-developed, expansion possibilities would be . . . perhaps seven-fold," the report states.

All this could happen, of course, because with parking garages, the present parking requirements in the zoning ordinance could be liberalized, and more new construction could take place.

"If . . . "It'd be nice if . . . " is the general reaction of those who have seen the plan. The "Business Area" survey has been presented informally to Council, Palmer Square, Inc., Chamber of Commerce, real estate men, lawyers and others, and the general reaction is favorable.

"The only question is 'how do we do it?'" Mr. Morgan said.

Land values in the Borough could prompted Mayor Henry S. Patterson to say, of parking garages, "We'd be building them on gold mines," but perhaps the office apartment ratebles above would alter that situation. A "Borough Parking Authority" is one idea that has been considered, but actually, the practical machinery has yet to be invented.

According to Borough Councilman Alan Cerrick, who carries the planning portfolio, the next probable step is for the Planning Board to approve formally the concept of parking garages. This will unquestionably not come until fall.

Borough Council must give some sort of preliminary approval and then turn on a green traffic light for the

Spool of Thread

The housewife who makes a quick trip to town for a spool of thread or the businessman who stops for six minutes each morning to pick up his mail at the Palmer Square post office, may have to take up walking as a hobby.

Parking proposals presented by Raymond and May contain no provisions for the quick stop. Borough Engineer Thomas Cawley concedes that the Palmer Square post office (possibly, by the time these suggestions are implemented, the "branch" post office) will indeed be a problem and he says maybe there will be a 15-minute zone there.

But to reach stores and shops, even for a five-minute purchase, tomorrow's customer will just have to walk from a parking garage.

Planning Board to work out details, in the opinion of Mr. Cawley.

Mr. Morgan optimistically hopes for a solution in five years.

POOL TO OPEN

In Rocky Hill, The Rocky Hill swimming pool is expected to open this Saturday, Mrs. B. Judith Gilbert, widow and co-executor of the Linus R. Gilbert estate, has announced. The pool, built in 1954 on the River Road in Montgomery Township, includes a kiddie pool for 5-year-olds and younger, and an olympic pool for older children.

Morning swimming classes will egain be conducted this year. Badges for swimming will be issued at a nominal cost per person and children 5-years-old and younger will be admitted free. Scholarship badges will be arranged. Cost of the pool's operation and liability will be assumed by the Montgomery Township Recreation Commission.

VANDALS VISIT POOL

At Broadmead, The Broadmead Swim Club's pool was visited sometime after 10 Saturday night by vandals who climbed the fence and then tossed everything they could get their hands on into the pool.

Among the items found in the water the following morning were trash cans, chairs, tables and benches. In addition, two folding chairs, a picnic table and a bench were broken.

PENNY ANTE

Tax Goes into Effect. "They grunt and pay it, just the way we grunt and collect it," observed Everett Campbell thoughtfully as he watched his customers at Thorne's fumbling with the first few days of New Jersey's sales tax. "I would have been much happier with an income tax," he added, "but that's the way the mop flops."

Thorne's is one of the stores that has both taxable and nontaxable merchandise, Prescription drugs, for example, are not taxable, but cosmetics are.

"Some areas we're not sure what's taxable and what's not," Mr. Campbell continued. "Dairy products are taxable, so what about ice cream, and if ice cream, what about orange ice?"

The Nassau Del cheerfully rings up a tax on ice-cream. The only beverage that seems to be taxable at the Del is Hawaiian Punch. Cox' Delicatessen explains that additives make the difference. Concentrated orange-juice, frozen, is probably a food and so not taxable.

Food and Drink. "It's a little difficult to begin with, but I think it will work out," is our resigned philosophy of John Giasantonio at The Annex. His restaurant is faced with charging a tax on meals but none on the cocktail served with the meal. "It just takes a little more time and bookkeeping," he said. "Personally, I care more about the tax on houses and property than the sales tax."

Merrill Zinder is not in the least philosophical. "In plain English, it stinks!" he says. "It's going to cut down on the profit of the small retailer and I think it's a terrible thing. I can't raise my prices: what am I going to do — raise everything a penny?"

Some establishments have raised prices. Mr. Zinder says he went to a movie whose usual price is $1.50. The tax on $1.50 is 5¢, and instead of bothering with a nickel, the management raised the price to $1.60.

Tires and Not Tires. "It's confusing for us," said John Van Zandt of the farm implement firm in Blawenburg. "We deal with farmers, and they have available to them an exemption. To get it, they have to fill out Form ST-7, which exempts them from a tax on tractor tires. But they still have to pay a tax on passenger car tires. I think this will result in an expense to the retailer because we'll have to spend more time keeping track of things . . ."

At The English Shop, where clothing is non-taxable but boutique items (mea's and women's jewelry, colognes, perfume) are, Eric Mihan shrugs, "I would rather see a 1% tax on everything. So many things are taxable and so many not. It's confusing, and to the tax collector must be even more so." And after a pause, "I feel very sorry for the tax collector." Perhaps it's the only time that official has ever drawn a note of sympathy.

Mr. Mihan pointed out that, because of the excise levy, his shop is accustomed to handling taxes, and he predicted that "before long, we'll have the tax on everything."

At Princeton Fuel Oil, where there is no tax on the oil, but a tax on home appliances the company sells, "It hasn't been in long enough for us to tell yet . . ."

Many shops have installed the specialized cash register necessary to handle the tax easily, but one small shop merely puts clothespins on the keys to make sure nobody hits the wrong one.

stepped up their buying prior to the tax," says Mr. Campbell of Thorne customers, "but Princeton is a pretty high-income area; if people want something, they'll buy it regardless of tax."

"We're going to have to keep our pennies," said an Anaco customer.

The purchaser of a comic book 12c and five packs of Batman cards learned the facts of economic life early. "Hey, Mom!" he said indignantly, "I had to pay 3c tax!"

A HOT FOURTH

Thermometer Reaches 101.

Well, people were complaining not long ago about the cold, backward spring," said David Ludlum this week with glee in his eye. "Now they've got their summer!"

Princeton's weatherman recorded 104 degrees Sunday on his standard United States Weather Bureau instruments. Under a shady maple Mr. Ludlum lined up an even 100, and out at the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, between Pennington and Hopewell, is was an even 100, too—the delights of the cool countryside!

The 104 degrees is the highest recorded by Mr. Ludlum in the 10 years he has been keeping records in Princeton. Next hottest was a 102 in 1957, and the last really scorching Fourth of July weekend slong the eastern seaboard was in 1911.

"It really built up fast on Sunday," Mr. Ludlum reminds early-morning lawn mowers. "By 10 a.m. — and that's only 9 a.m. sun time—it was already 90. What kept us going here in Princeton was the low humidity. A dry northwest wind was blowing but if it had been a southwest wind, we'd have had soup!"

Tornado? It was a long hot spell, too, starting last Tuesday and breaking definitively only late on the afternoon of the Fourth of July when the cold front from Canada finally checked in. Mr. Ludlum watched the progress of the front all day Monday: at 9 a.m. it was at Albany, at 4.45 p.m. it was in Princeton.

"That rain storm Monday came with a southwest wind, which is most unusual for us, and the wind was so strong that I suspect possibly a tornado cloud was above us which fortunately, didn't come down."

Rain fell to a depth of .28 inches in the Ludlum gauge. The rain came, of course, when that cold Canadian front met the hot air here in the south.

Those very strong winds on Monday brough down trees and branches all over town. Robert F. Mooney, Borough Administrator, says he has never seen so many branches come down in such a short space of time, and Mr. Ludlum agrees. In one minute's time in the weatherman's estimate.

On Nassau Street, across from Renwick's, a campus tree crashed onto the parked car belonging to Jan Koren of Trenton. The owner was not in the car. A tree at Charlton and William and another on Washington Road also went before the wind. Borough engineers worked from 5 until 7:30 to clean things up.

The storm also extinguished Princeton's fireworks display. It will be scheduled on its rain date this Saturday, again at Palmer Stadium, again at 9 p.m., perhaps with better luck.

APARTMENTS REJECTED

By Pennington Planners. The zoning admendment sought by Princeton builder William Augustine for a 420-unit apartment complex in Pennington has been denied unanimously by the Pennington Planning Board. The $3-million project had been opposed by the signers of two petitions and by residents who said it would alter the rural character of Pennington.

Mr. Augustine had requested an amendment that would have changed zoning requirements to permit construction of multi-unit housing on a 36-acre site he has purchased, part of it lying in a residential zone. In turning down the proposal, the Board said that it had considered its effect on the community, whether it would be compatible with a newly-adopted master plan and whether it would improve zoning regulations.

In addition, the board said it had also considered the nature of the request, whether it was tantamount to granting a special favor or did indeed correct an inequity. At the same time, it praised the design of the project.

Chairman William Reuter said that the board had also discussed with Mr. Augustine the possibility of building single dwelling homes on the tract. Mr. Augustine hinted he would proceed with some compromise plan.

About the only comfort that Sunday's record 104 degrees left is that it isn't likely to get any hotter this summer.

It won't be much cooler for a while, either, the Man reports, with the thermometer standing a good chance of moving into the 90s each day through the coming weekend. Showers are a possibility both Saturday and Sunday.

They are Ernest E. Pignone 3rd, 19, Cherry Hill Road, and Robert F. Ludwig, 19, Wertsville-Zion Road, Hopewell, both three months; Kevin R. Stechinl, 22, 144 Hickory Court, two months; Napoleon R. Brooks, 29, 325 Witherspoon Street, 45 days; Alan S. Mangine, 18, Cherry Hill Road, 35 days; and Paul F. Sullivan, 22, Lawrenceville one month.

William H. Fortington Jr., 17, 152 Grover Avenue, and Ned Ayarian, 28 Brown Hall, Theological Seminary, were halted for speeding. Each lost his license for 30 days.

NOW, ABOUT HOUSING . . .

Representatives Meet. It was hot and humid in Township Hall last Wednesday, but some 30 representatives of community-wide organizations stuck the evening out, talked about housing in the Township and then gratefully accepted the invitation of the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club to meet in its air-conditioned comfort from now on.

This is the Citizens' Advisory Committee that will explore low and middle-income housing in the Township. At Wednesday's meeting, a five-man nominating committee was chosen — Leonard Newton, Jack Yeoman, Henry Broad, J.R. Smith and Victor Davis — to select a chairman, vice-chairman and secretary.

The nxet meeting will be held Monday and these nominations will be considered and acted upon so that the group can roll up its air-conditioned sports-shirt sleeves and get to work. They plan to meet through the summer.

An eight-point "charge" to the Committee prepared by Kendree and Shepherd, the Township's planning consultants, was read to the Committee Wednesday night as a starter. In essence, the Committee will:

- Assemble data on the need for this kind of housing and define "low" and "middle" in "the Princeton Community" Borough and Township).
- Analyze, in detail, the degree to which this need is now being met, and consider the effect of reducing lot size, establishing rentals, and so on.
- Comment on municipal responsibility toward the need.
- Investigate the state and Federal aid that is available and find out what such aid would involve.
- Consider the economic impact on Princeton (including the question of local subsidy) of low-middle housing programs, and their effect on Princeton's long-range objectives.
- Look over potential sites.

You're on Your Own. The Township's Planning Board wants this Citizens' Committee to run itself, and doesn't want to do any "hand-holding."

However, at Wednesday's meting, various representatives told Hans K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, that they want continuous liaison with the Board as the Board agreed to name one of its members to this position. The consultant will also be available.

To the original core, consisting of representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, the University PAIR, the Princeton Housing Group, pastors and laymen from churches, real estate agents, the Jaycees, the Township teachers' organization, the Italian American Federation, the Italian-American Sportsman's Club, the citizens' zoning enforcement committee and the local architects' organization, the Planning Board has added these groups:

League of Women Voters, five PTAs, the Princeton Bar Association, four civic associations (Hillcrest, Riverside, North Road and Grey Farm), the Coucil of Community Services and Chamber of Commerce division heads from Civic Affairs, Retail and Services, Banking and Insurance, Research and Development, Government Liaison, Contractors and Builders and the former Chamber president, Arthur Curtiss.

Leonard Di Donato, for the Italian-American Federation, protested Wednesday that the group is now much too large, but the Board says the new representatives will remain.

CAR RUNS STOP SIGN

Hits Culvert, Injures Two. A 17-year-old driver ran a stop sign at Harris and Valley Roads last week, unaware that a Township patrol car was behind him.

Pfc. Olindo Carnevale charged William E. Bragg, 17, of Princeton-Hightstown Road, with reckless driving and failing to observe a stop sign. According to the police, Bragg ran the stop sign late Wednes-

Fireworks On Saturday

Princeton's American Legion fireworks program, postponed from the Fourth of July by rain, will go off this Saturday at 9 p.m. in Palmer Stadium, weather willing. A Community Band concert will be given at 8 o'clock.

Erratic rain squalls late Monday afternoon and evening caused Legion officials to decide on postponement. Families in areas of town that were dry after the 4:30 rain had stopped drove toward Palmer Stadium, thinking that the show was on. Traffic police turned them back.

How To Survive

Research pointed up the following facts about seat belts: They increase the wearer's comfort in terms of support, and reduced fatigue. They improve his control on sharp curves and in sudden stops. It is an indication of intelligence and consideration to be a habitual wearer of safety belts, just as it is adolescent to believe it a sign of being "chicken" to wear them. Surveys suggest that the very act of wearing them improves a driver's alertness and thus contributes to the avoidance of accidents. After a bad accident a lot of people rush to buy or start wearing their seat belts . . . how much better to insure your safety before the accident ever happens! Our aim is to be helpful in every way . . . may we serve you?

day evening. Halfway through, he realized a police car was behind him, so he doused his lights and turned on Harris Road.

Harris, which dead ends, is divided by a deep culvert across the road. Bragg's car hit the culvert head on, damaging his entire front end, windshield and undercarriage.

Bragg was taken to Princeton Hospital where he was treated for a laceration of the head and nose. A passenger, Richard Simmons, 15, of Cranbury, received a bloody nose.

Confusion Creates Collision. Confusion arising over a hand signal given by the driver of a car not involved in the accident led to the collision last week of a car and motorcycle at the intersection of Moore and Nassau Streets.

Christopher L. Pendleton, 18, Kendall Park, operator of the motorcycle, received a laceration of the left heel and abrasions. He was charged by Pfc. William Hunter with driving on a learner's permit without the presence of a licensed driver.

The second driver Mrs. Barbara B. Bloch, 41, 60 Jefferson Road, was ticketed for no license in possession. The mishap occurred last Wednesday at 5:50 p.m.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

In Malpractice Suit. A former student at Westminster Choir College will be allowed a new trial in her malpractice suit against two Princeton doctors and Princeton Hospital, the Appellate Division of Superior Court ruled last week. The decision overturned a previous Essex County ruling which dismissed the suit.

Defendants in the case are Dr. Ellwood W. Godfrey and Dr. Ralph J. Belford, both on the staff of Princeton Hospital. Mrs. Helen L. Betenbaugh of Livingston, charges that the doctors were negligent because X-rays made at Princeton Hospital failed to show a fracture she suffered in a fall on December 17, 1961.

Dr. Godfrey was head of the hospital's radiology department and Dr. Belford was chief of surgical service.

When Mrs. Betenbaugh's pain persisted following the accident, she says that she went to her family physician who x-rayed her and found that her lower spine was fractured. The court said the Princeton Hospital x-rays "did not portray the entire lower portion of the spine."

The court added, "The evidence produced on the plaintiff's behalf, when viewed in its most favorable light, sustains an inference that the defendants were not free from negligence which proximately caused the plaintiff to suffer damages. Nor does the record support the trial court's conclusion that the plaintiff sustained no damages as the result of the failure of the defendants to properly x-ray the fifth segment of the sacrum."

TO KEEP THINGS HOT: Two 15-ton steel tanks with a capacity of 30,000 gallons of fuel oil each are being installed underground at the rear of Princeton Hospital's service building, pictured in the background. When the tanks are installed, the pit will be refilled and re-landscaped.

"OFF SEASON" IS ON At Princeton University. An empty campus during the summer, which used to be known as the "off season" at Princeton University, is going the way of the dodo, the Edsel and the penny-postcard.

In contrast to the deserted campus of a decade ago, some 1,500 people are making use of Princeton's educational facilities this summer. They range from grade school children to renowned scholars, from a top-flight Soviet physicist to a Canadian bellmaster playing the University carillon.

In all, 21 programs have been arranged for this summer by the University's Office of Educational Programs. Some 300 professors, secondary school teachers, special instructors and administrative personnel will handle the instruction.

Already taking their meals in campus dining halls are 72 Peace Corps trainees for Libya and Morocco and 52 high school students enrolled in the third annual Princeton Cooperative School Program.

Established in 1964 with a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation and expanded this summer under a grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, PCSP seeks to increase the number of qualified college applicants from the ranks of the disadvantaged. The 52 boys will be subjected to a six-week program of intensive study led by Dr. Sheldon Judson, Knox Taylor Professor of Geology at Princeton.

The Princeton Summer Institute for Secondary Teachers and Supervisors of Disadvantaged Youth — in its second year and nearly doubled in size — has an enrollment of 72 teachers from the Trenton Newark and Burlington school systems and over 300 students. An NDEA grant supports the program.

Other projects are the fourth annual Telluride program for high school juniors of high promise; the second NDEA History Institute Institute, under the direction of Dr. Robert A. Lively, Director of Princeton's Center for Studies in 20th Century American Statecraft and Public Policy; the NDEA Institute for advance study in German; and the secondary school science project seminary.

The Plasma Physics Conference of July 11-15 will be led by Prof. Melvin B. Gottlieb, Professor of Astrophysical Sciences at Princeton and Director of the Plasma Physics Laboratory on the James For-

TRAVELERS SOUGHT

By YWCA. Going abroad this summer? Mrs. Kay Armstrong, chairman of the YWCA's annual International Festival this year, is looking for people who will be traveling to foreign lands in the next three months. World-wide travelers are being invited by the YWCA to purchase various items representative of foreign countries for display and for sale at the YWCA festival in October.

The festival traditionally features booths of other lands with hostesses in native costumes and authentic articles representing these nations. Proceeds help to finance the work done by the YWCA in 77 countries throughout the world.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Armstrong at 924-7060 or Mrs. Howard Waxwood at the YWCA, 924-4323.

TRENTON MAN ARRESTED

For Pilfering Mailboxes. Dean R. Matlick, 20, of Trenton, was scheduled to appear before Township Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. Wednesday to answer seven charges of larceny. Matlick, who has been held in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $300 bail, is charged with rifling seven mailboxes last week at the top of Breuere's Hill on the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road.

According to Pfc. David A. Funk and Anthony Pinelli, who arrested Matlick, the defendant was first spotted by a driver of a Nassau Oil truck. After the driver went to a home of one of the victims to tell her to call the

News Of The CHURCHES

DR. BLAKE IS SPEAKER At Seminary Conference. The Rev. Dr. Eugene C. Blake, secretary general-elect of the World Council of Churches gave the first of four addresses on 'Four Dimensions of the Church Today' this Wednesday at the 25th Institute of Theology at Princeton Seminary.

Chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church since 1951, an alumnus and trustee of the Seminary, Dr. Blake will continue his lectures at 11:30 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Miller Chapel. The public is welcome.

Seminary President James I. McCord opened the conference on Tuesday, speaking on the session theme, "Behold, I Make All Things New." The featured speaker next week will be Dean Samuel Miller of Harvard Divinity School, who will discuss "Four Disciplines of the Spirit" at 11:30 a.m. Monday through Thursday.

An estimated 250 clergy and laymen are in attendance. The daily schedule includes elective classes, workshops in homiletics, speech, church administration, stewardship, urban church work and the military chaplaincy.

PLAN OUTDOOR WORSHIP At Washington Park. The Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Pennington and Titusville will unite in a combined outdoor service in the Open Air Theatre at Washington Crossing State Park this Sunday and again on August 14. The service, starting at 10 a.m., will be preceeded by 15 minutes of singing by the combined choirs of all four churches. People of all denominations are invited to attend.

Participating ministers are Rev. Walter Coats and Rev. James Handley of the Pennington Presbyterian Church; Rev. Rollo Michael of the Pennington Methodist Church; Rev. Robert Murphy of the Titusville Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Roland Strang of the Titusville Methodist Church. Mr. Michael will preach in July and Mr. Coats in August.

Music for this Sunday will be under the direction of Robert Sine of the Presbyterian Church of Pennington; Nelson Hansbury of Titusville Methodist will be in charge the following month.

Entry to the park is from the Pennington-Washington Crossing Road (Route 546) near the intersection of Bear Tavern Road. Ushers will direct cars into the park and to the parking lot adjacent to the theatre.

Because of the terrain women are urged to wear low heeled shoes. Casual clothes may be worn by those who so desire.

In the event of rain, the service for all four congregations will be held in the Pennington Presbyterian Church.

PLANS UNION SERVICE: The Rev. Rollo A. Michael of Pennington Methodist Church, is among the four clergymen participating in outdoor worship services in Washington Crossing Park. Story this page.

SUMMER SINGING: One of the most promising innovations among the churches is the Junior Camp now in session at All Saints' Chapel under the sponsorship of the Princeton Pastors' Association. The group above, part of the nearly 50 youngsters enrolled, sings a folk hymn to the accompaniment of Director Larry Trettin's guitar. (Staff Photo)

NEW WING PLANNED For Rocky Hill Church. Construction has begun on an estimated $35,000 addition to the 109-year-old Rocky Hill Reform Church. Plans call for seven new classrooms, a pastor's study, kitchen and boiler room. The ground-breaking was held on June 5. The new rooms will be ready for use in September.

The Rev. Earl Jabay, interim pastor, says "exciting things are happening in the church and the community." His parishioners now number 65 families.

Architect Robert M. Engelbrech and his associates have tried to preserve the 'country Gothic" flavor of the century-old church, built in 1856 by H. W. Leard of Princeton. The building is noted for its board and batten detail, its delicately-shaped glass window tracery and its graceful bell tower and steeple. The church was originally the Dutch Reformed Church, and the early records, circa 1727, were kept in Dutch.

Joseph H. Harms is chairman of the building committee. The contractor is Garri Stryker.

CAMPAIGN TOPS GOAL By $1½ Million. Total pledges to the campaign of the Roman Catholic diocese of Trenton amount to $18,001,500, an excess of $1.5 million on the $16.5 million goal.

The progress report was made this week by Rt. Rev. Msgr. John C. Reiss, campaign coordinator. Plans include construction of Sacred Heart Seminary on Route 29 above Titusville. The sites for five new high schools have been chosen and title to the land has been cleared for four of them.

The diocese has also received approval from the Montgomery Township Board of Adjustment for the construction of an elementary school, convent, church and rectory on 3 acres of land located on Orchard Road near Route 206. Building plans have not been announced. The Rev. Edward J. Henry of St. Paul's appeared before the municipal board in behalf of the diocese.

BULLETIN NOTES

Sharing Session. Parents and friends of the children enrolled in the First Baptist-Calvary Baptist vacation church school are invited to a sharing session at 7:30 this Thursday at Calvary Baptist. The program concludes the two-weeks session.

Summer Swelter. An air conditioner is needed for 'The Tomb" at First Presbyterian Church, which will be operated on Tuesdays and Thursdays evenings beginning July 19, under the auspices of Youth Associates (formerly Young Life). Inquiries are directed to 921-2959. The Tomb is set up as a coffeehouse for college and teenage youth during the summer months.

Visiting Clergy. The Rev. John Bodo, former pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will conduct the Presbyterians' union service at 10 a.m. this Sunday at First Church. There will be a nursery and church school for children pre-school age through kindergarten.

The Rev. Victor Bredenkamp will preach at 10 on Sunday at Princeton Methodist Church. His topic is 'What Is A Christian?" The Rev. Mr. Bredenkamp, a South African, was ordained in Pretoria in 1955. A member of the department of religion at Natal University, he is studing for his doctorate under Professor R. B. Y. Scott at Princeton Seminary.

The preacher at Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church will be the Rev. Patrick Thyne. The service is scheduled for 10 a.m.

Christian Science. The Sunday school and worship services of First Church of Christ, Scientist continue through the summer at the usual hour of 11 a.m., according to Mrs. Marga P. Falvey of the committee on publication.

THIS HILLSIDE HOUSE hidden from the road by a green screen of dogwoods, birch and maple could provide the perfect solution for family members who want to be 'together but apart.' Designed so that both living levels open to shadded lawns the top deck has an entry hall, living room with fireplace, cabinets, bookshelves, dining room, convenient kitchen, four bedrooms and two baths. Below there is a new master bedroom suite with full tile bath plus a second living room. Almost four acres just one and one half miles from Hopewell. $39,500

BE A 'COOL ONE' in this four bedroom, two and one half bath bi-level perched on a breezy acre plus in nearby Montgomery Township. The living room and dining rooms have unusually high ceilings — perfect for grandmother's breakfront or that Medieval tapestry you have always wanted. There's a study lined with bookshelves plus some expensive extras — new aluminum screens and storm windows and a new General Electric washer and dryer. Two car garage. All for only $29,500

QUIET AND SHADY but near all the action. The children can walk to the new recreation area and in the Fall to the Community Park and Valley Road schools. Built to the specifications of its transferred owners the house has such extras as two fireplaces, one in the living room and one in the big informal family room, three and one half baths including one off the master bedroom and two for the four children's bedrooms. Screened porch, fully equipped kitchen, complete screens and storm windows and a built-in AM-FM system plus separate dining room and two car garage. $57,500

UP DOWN, ALL AROUND, the traffic pattern in this immaculate Borough twin level lets you and your family enjoy every part of the house with a minimum of effort and a maximum of privacy. Enter in the middle to a foyer and from there up a few steps to a spacious carpeted living room, a separate dining room (also carpeted), a fully equipped kitchen with breakfast area, and four bedrooms and two baths. From the upper level use the front or back stairs (believe it or not a builder can be persuaded to put one in!) to the lower level with a fifth bedroom or study, a separate laundry — utility room, and a paneled family room, twenty-six feet long, with oak parquet floors, a pretty brick fireplace, and doors to a terrace. Dividends: Carefully landscaped lot fenced in the rear, complete aluminum screens and storm windows, oversize two car garage, and a front porch to rock on. $47,500

LAST BUT FAR FROM LEAST one colonial remains in this group of attractive new houses in the gently rolling hills just north of Princeton. Central entry hall, living room, separate dining room, paneled family room, tasteful kitchen with family dining space, counter top range, wall oven, dishwasher, first floor laundry and powder room. DEAR READER:

Whoever you are — businessman, housewife, student — you can improve your reading skills. For seventeen years we have helped average readers to better comprehension and speed.

And we have learned from our students. We have found that each reader has individual problems, so we have designed an individually taught and scheduled course. We use your own material — where it counts And we don't expect you to be finished when you're not; we will give extra and review sessions for as many years as you wish with no additional charge.

This summer we will be teaching from 0-5 on weekdays, and on Monday and Wednesday nights. See if you can squeeze us in. You'll be glad you did.

News Of The THEATRES

PLAYERS TO OPEN

At Day School, "Woyzeck," a striking example of German expressionist theatre by Georg Baechner, will launch the first season for the Great Road Players. Opening night will be this Friday at 8:30 at Princeton Day School's new theatre on The Great Road.

The curtain-raiser will be T.S. Eliot's "Sweeney Agonistes," a broad adventure into the comic.

The Players are a group of drama students from Harvard, Yale and Columbia. Formed late this spring, they ran into an unexpected snag when it was discovered that the tax status of Princeton Day School might be jeopardized if the group used the School's theatre for its performances.

The tax law has been explored in depth, however, and the non-profit Players — they have been legally constituted a non-profit corporation — now have clear sailing ahead for the summer. Trustees of the Day School, who issued the initial invitation, are as delighted as the young actors.

Barry Boys has been cast in the title role of "Woyzeck." Mr. Boys studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London after completing his wurk at Pembroke College, in Cambridge England.

He worked for a time in regional theatres in Britain, then joined the Old Vic Company and went with the company to Moscow, Leningrad and Warsaw, playing featured roles in "Macbeth," "Saint Joan" and "Romeo and Juliet." His is in the United States on a Rockefeller Foundation Grant, and has been teaching Shakespearean acting in New York.

Subsequent productions for the Players this summer are two Moliere farces, "The Imaginary Cuckold" and "The Flying Doctor;" Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," the "Cuchulain Saga" of W. B. Yeats and John Gay's "Beggar's Opera."

The Players also plan two children's matinees. One will be a play called "Silly Soup" and the other will be the Moliere "Flying Doctor."

OUT IN THE OPEN

Music Sounds Better. The blithe melodies of "Brigadoon" will sing along again this Friday and Saturday at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing.

Then, on the weekend of July 15 and 16, Open Air audiences will see "The Fantasticks", off-Broadway's contribution to musical delight.

In between, the Tony DeNicola Quartet will debut at the first Jazz Concert next Wednesday, July 13. These chamber-and-jazz concerts are held each Wednesday at the Open Air Theatre, and the Allegria Quartet will appear for its second concert on Wednesday, July 20.

"Out of this World," a late Cole Porter, will follow "The Fantasticks" on July 22 and 23.

WINDS WILL PLAY

At Outdoor Theatre. Mozart, Haydn, Handel and Boismortier will provide the music this Friday at Sundance, the festivaudeville with text by George Dennison and music by Carmines.

On Friday, July 15, the Claremont String Quartet will begin its three-concert cycle of Beethoven quartets.

PLEASE "SHEBA"?

By Villagers. "Come Back Little Sheba" will be the third summer offering of The Villagers, the playing company that is spending the summer season in the Barn Theatre, Colonial Farms, Middlebush.

The play will open Friday, July 15 for three weekends, through Sunday, July 31. Curtain time is 8:30.

Saunder Finard is directing a cast including Renee Stein, in the leading role of Lola, William Jamieson, Jennifer Almon and Charles Mirra.

Other performers will be val amphitheatre near Upper Black Eddy, Bucks County.

The Festival Winds, a chamber group of two oboes, two bassoons and two French horns, will play, starting at 9 p.m. Melvin Kaplin is the director.

This Saturday, the Judson Poets' Theatre will perform "Pomegranada," a new opera with libretto by Koutoukas and music by Carmines. It's a fanciful story of events in the Garden of Eden on the day after the Fall. The score combines dance hall music, popular melody and traditional hymnody with contemporary vocal writing.

The curtain-raiser for "Pomegranada" will be "Patter for a Soft Shoe Dance," a

MY FAIR LADY: Rex Harrison is as fresh and spontaneous in the film role of Professor Henry Higgins as he was in the stage version — a classic piece of acting. Held over at the Playhouse.

News Of The Theatres

Carmen Sarro, Ernio Lazzara, Herbert Harden, Ronald Wynkierad, Arnold Peters, Robert Jamieson and Dahn Finard.

PLAYHOUSE

My Fair Lady (now playing) is a lush and lovely musical. Admirers of the stage version will find that it has been transferred to the screen with its wit and style intact.

It's all here — the eternally provocative Pygmalion legend as interpreted in the play by Bernard Shaw that Alan Lerner and Frederick Loewe transferred to the musical stage. Audrey Hepburn is believable in the Role of Eliza Doolittle, the flower girl transformed into a grand lady, and Rex Harrison is excellent as her mentor, Professor Higgins, a part he played for 1,000 times on the stage.

Stanley Holloway as Alfred P. Doolittle, Eliza's droll father, is as lively and athletic in the film as if it were opening night again — he held the part in New York and London for three year a half years. His cavorting in "With a Little Bit of Luck" and "Get Me to the Church on Time," is a delight.

As might be expected from a $17 million production, the picture is a visual knockout. Cecil Beaton has created the production scenery and costume design, has made the film a feast for the eyes at all times, the high point being the Ascot scene with its magical combinations of whites, blacks and grays.

Among the tunes heard are "Wouldn't It Be Loverly?," "The Rain in Spain," "I Could Have Danced All Night," "The Street Where you Live," and "I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face."

PRINCE

Nevada Smith (now playing) Vengeance on the violent frontier of the wild, wild west is the central theme of this tale, which also relates how a simple and naive youth grew into a hardened, resourceful killer.

Steve McQueen in the title role performs with powerful understatement. In the opening sequence, his white father and Indian mother are brutally tortured and killed by three mounted desperados, played by Karl Malden, Arthur Kennedy and Martin Landau. The picture links together three principal story divisions, one for each of the three vengeance killings Nevada Smith sets out to commit. Brian Keith plays splendidly the young killer's instructor in the techniques of frontier vendetta. Janet Margolin is the Indian girl who befriends him.

The chase is ever present from start to finish, and along the way viewers will encounter adventure, romance and intrigue bathed in color and surrounded by the wild beauty of the west. The film is a followup to the character introduced some time ago in "The Carpetbaggers".

Mary Poppins (now playing) returns to Princeton for the pleasure of the young at heart. It is a blithe a musical fantasy as you could ever imagine. Julie Andrews sails in over the rooftops as the fey Mary Poppins, and the fun begins.

It all takes place in London at the turn of the century, when the two Banks children, having driven off a number of governesses, are in need of a new one. Mary Poppins appears, dangling from her open umbrella, and announces that she is "practically perfect." She whisks the children into a world full of surprises. She slides up the bannisters and arranges miracles, maintaining an extraordinary primness.

She takes the children to tea with her cousin Albert (Ed Wynn), who floats to the ceilings on his "laughing days." The scene becomes one of the funniest of the film.

Dick Van Dyke is Bert, the cockney jack-of-all-trades, who is one of the few privy to Mary Poppins' supernatural powers. He does a raffish rooftop ballet, with a chorus of chimney sweeps.

The show is full of music — 14 songs in all. The dialogue is fresh and wholesome; the settings are imaginative. And Julie Andrews is captivating in the title role.

MEET THE BOYS: Three men who know Princeton and fine footwear are partners in the new Ricchard-Princeton, Inc.—a shoe store lined with quality. In the center is Fred Hawk, who has been around in shoe salesmanship for many years. Both Arthur Riccio (left) and Richard Lanahan (right) are young men with native Princeton backgrounds. An unobtrusive Dartmouth mug on a shelf in the shop testifies to Mr. Lanahan's temporary departure from the Princeton scene, but he's back now.

IT'S NEW To Us

A PAIR OF NEW SHOES Shop Opens. The handsomest pair of golf shoes this side of Arnold Palmer went on view this week when a new men's shoe shop called Ricchard's opened at 175 Nassau.

Actually, the shop doesn't specialize in golf shoes at all, but we mention this particular pair because it's typical of the quality and workmanship of Ricchard's inventory.

Allen Edmonds is one line, and $38 to $53 per pair is the price range. Within the Edmonds collection, men will find wing-tips in pebble grain or cordovan, a plain-toe crepe, a pair of moccasin styles, all made with such finesse and care that you can almost see gnarled and loving hands working the oils into the leather.

That golf shoe has no nails and no tacks: it has been fashioned with plugs throughout and lined spectacularly with red leather. The upper, in wing-tip style, has the trditional kiltie or shawl.

The kiltie appears again in a white golf shoe (see photo) with interchangeable kilties in bright red, deep royal blue or black, and you can see that shoe all the way from the 19th hole. A third golfing style is a black and white spectator.

Alden of New England is a shoemaker whose line begins at $35. Our favorite here is a Scotch grain with plain toe and a very heavy crepe sole. The loafer with its frisky tassel could be worn becomingly with a summer white linen jacket, if you buy it in black. Comes in brown, too.

Mr. Hawk, shoe expert at Ricchard's, is concerned about men with fitting problems, and for them be has assembled a quartet of shoe styles: plain-toe, black or brown; wing-tip, black or brown. And look at the range!

In double-E, sizes are from 7½ to 12. In double-A, from 9 to 12. In between there are C and D widths from 6½ to 15; A width from 9 to 12; B width from 7½ to 14 and E width from 7 to 12. If that catalogue doesn't take care of hard-to-fit foot. . . . . .!

On the import shelf, Ricchards's has a collection from Britain, including the old original British wing-tip, the kind of shoe that never, never,

A Shop for a Man

Ricchard's is a man's shoe store, and no nonsense about it.

Deep pine shelves, drawers and cupboards harmonize with the rough tweed carpet and match the pine shutters at the back of the shop.

Captain's chairs and a dark wood stool for the man who's fitting your shoes, add to the atmosphere. There's an old map of Princeton, a big one; sailing ship prints and an old copper ship's lamp big enough to have sailed with Old Ironsides.

Ricchard's is on Nassau, at the small alley separating the former Nassau Street School from the row of shops across from Davidson's.

"Riverwind." The musical comedy "Riverwind" will end its three-week engagement at the Bucks County Playhouse this Saturday and the company will then depart on a seven-week tour starting next Monday at Elitch's Gardens, Denver.

Next Monday at the Bucks County Playhouse will see "The Lion in Winter," a witty production from last season in New York.

It will star George C. Scott as King Henry II and Colleen Dewhurst as Eleanor of Aquitaine. Mr. Scott will be on screen shortly in a new film, "The Bible." Previous film appearances were in "Anatomy of a Murder," "Dr. Strangelove" and "The Yellow Rolls-Royce."

Miss Dewhurst was last season's Martha in the Bucks County "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" She co-starred off Broadway with Mr. Scott in "Children of Darkness" and "Desire Under the Elms."

never wears out. And here's a Scotch grain plain-toe with side buckle and a heavy crepe sole.

Real alligator loafers to order, are black or deep brown, and if you want a traditional penny-style loafer, here is Bostonian's, in antiqued brown or black. A demi-boot has been fashioned in the same antiqued leather.

Lady Bostonian loafers are available for women, incidentally, but so far, this is the shop's only concession to the ladies.

Except, we hasten to add, for the Converse tennis shoe. These top-seeded sneakers are available for either men or women.

TABLE D'HOTE

Well-Set. The host's table for a summer picnic or a cool luncheon might be set with 29c straw mats from the Philippines, or a $500 lace and linen placemat service for 12, because "Name it and I've got it," is the challenge issued by Mr. Farkhouh of the Shopping Center linen shop.

Those Philippine mats, hand woven, are a diagonal straw weave of quarter-inch bands. Another style, 69c each, is lacy straw embroidered with red, blue or green leaf border. These are mats you can run under a faucet after the guests have gone home.

For tablecloth hostesses, there are handsome Madras cloths in unusual solids (like orange) and those stripes. These are guaranteed washable, by the way.

Plastic mats, non-Madras, are oval, oblong or round in any size you can name, just to prove "Name it and I've got it." Some plastics are fringed, some have bouncing ball fringe. We like that chalky white plastic cloth, the one with the big black coin dots.

If you're determined to use linen, your best linen, Farkouh will provide a clear plastic cover to keep the flax flaxen.

Picnicking? Take the Kari-Kool, a box-shaped insulated bag with zip top. It has an outside envelope which holds a red gingham plastic cloth 90 inches long and two picnic-bench seat covers. The insulated bag will keep your egg salad cool. $7.98.

Guesting? Take your hostess something she'd never buy herself: a set of fine white linen cocktail napkins, six for $3, with an appliqued nautical design. If she's not nautical, there are sets with colored embroidery edging the white.

Farkouh has always been a rug as well as linen shop, and this summer, you'll find displays of the all-weather carpeting that has become so popular in the last year or two.

It's $3.50 a square yard, and it comes in nice tweedy shades of blue, olive, wine, and so on. Use it on porch, in playroom and of course around poolside. You'll never worry again about little feet dragging in mud.

Another carpeting, this one all-nylon, is so durable you can even use it on your garage floor. (What kind of a garage do you have, anyway!) The 9 x 12 size is $39.95, and there are 20 weeds and solids to choose from.

POW!

Batmobile. Screeching to a halt in our Batmobile, we stopped the other day at Nassau Hobby, 142 Nassau, where we found a real Batmobile, motorized for slot racing, at $11.20. A model Batmobile, a kind of Immobile, is 98c. This one is just an Aurora model and actually, Nassau Hobby won't have it in stock until August, but that $11.20 one is (gulp) real.

There are also Batman and Robin marionettes, 15 inches tall and solemnly designated "official." This means that whoever holds the Batman license has said "okay". It's a way of controlling the cheap imitation stuff, Nassau tells us.

Warm summer afternoons you can work away in the cool of the garage with clear casting resin. Make your own dragons in amber by embedding insects, butterflies or leaves within the clear plastic mold. We saw a "butterfly" made with two oyster shell halves captured in the clear plastic. Make desk sets, Jewelry, bookends—the list is endless.

There's a fine 50c instruction book that is much more complete than a lot of the hobby instructions you find. Starter kit is $4.98, containing plastic molds and mold-releasing fluid, but you can buy the components separately as you use up the kit.

Adult hobbyists will like the wooden ship models that faithfully reproduce the "Constitution," the "Cutty Sark" and so on. They are about $10 to $20, but serious hobbyists may order the ones that cost as much as $50.

We were enchanted with Nassau Hobby's collection of farm and zoo animals, rubber and lifelike and widely various. Zoos have a hippo with cub, a tapir and a platypus, a sable antelope and a Guenon monkey, as well as the usual giraffe-baboon stuff.

Farmers may buy a percheron, golden Guernseys, Holsteins, Jerseys, ducks in all sorts of swimming-walking positions and several baby lambs. Things like ponds and, fences are available, too.

City folk will buy an imported car. Ours is the Rio, from France. These are scaled to Corgi size, but have considerably more detail. They are collectors' pieces, priced around $6 and $7.

A Request From Brazil.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Once again someone is asking for help from the people of Princeton. Once again someone is dunning you to dig into your pockets for a "worthy cause."

This time, however, the cause is an uncommon one. Despite the fact that I live and work in one of the poorest corners of the world, I am not asking for dollars to briefly assuage physical hunger. My cause is cultural hunger, and because this is an issue neither so obviously pressing as poverty, nor so clearcut as war, I turn to the most sophisticated citizenry on earth for help.

For the past year and a half I have been privileged, as a Peace Corps Volunteer, to teach theatre courses in the local university. (If any of you question the need for this service in a starving world, I can only say that, two years ago, I agreed with you: I have since been totally converted.)

My courses have been open to the community at large, and thus my students represent an unusually wide cross section: university and high school students, housewives, small businessmen, minor public officials, etc. In an area dominated still by the very poor and the very rich, they are largely a part of the new and growing middle class.

From this group must inevitably come the responsible and dedicated leaders of tomorrow's Brazil; yet it is within this group that suspicion of all things "Norteamericano" lies deepest. Because of this, I do what I can as a quasi-private citizen to present a more balanced picture of American natives and actions. All this is by way of asking you, also as private citizens, to contribute now to balancing the picture.

Our problems here are both immediate and long-range. After seven weeks of intensive rehearsal of Jean Anouilh's "The Lark" (in Portuguese), the University saw fit not to release production funds, and we were forced to halt rehearsals. It is our hope to present "The Lark" in two months under our own auspices, not only here but throughout the state of Paraiba. The students are doing their best to raise funds locally, but it is extremely difficult. We can probably sell sufficient tickets after we are ready to recoup the initial investment; but at the moment we have only about 10% ($500) of that needed investment.

If you can help us with this initial expense, we can then use any receipts for our long-term goals of improving the technical facilities of the local theatre building, and for equipping a traveling "popular" theatre to bring regular entertainment to the huge, theatre-hungry public which hasn't the means to come to the big city.

Anything you can contribute, from a dollar up, will help enormously. The simplest and safest way would be to send a personal check (made out to me) to my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McAneny, 67 Grover Avenue, Princeton, which they will forward to me. I cannot promise you gold plaques or letters of thanks from the Board or even tax deductions, only your name in the program.

All this may, I know, seem very unimportant, even irrelevant. All I can add is this, after a year and a half, a number of my Brazilian friends have said to me: "Leslie, I believe in you as a human being, but not as a Norteamericano." To which I always reply: "Like it or not, you have to believe in me as a Norteamericano, because that is what I am."

Please help me to prove to the Brazilians of the northeast that I am not only a perfectly possible Norteamericano, but a very typical Princetonian.

LESLIE C. McANENY
Paraiba, Brazil

Center's Expansion Opposed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following historical facts and recommendations are relative to the article entitled "A&P, Bam's Get Okay" in TOWN TOPICS of June 23, 1966.

One of the reasons for approval of a local Princeton Shopping Center by the Township Planning Board and subsequently by the Township Committee, in the early fifties, was the land relief, or proportion, between the building area and the open space area for circulation, parking and planting. Since that decision, tentative applications for additional land and building were rejected as contrary to the characteristics of a local shopping center, — a regional shopping center being most undesirable at that location.

The present building area is still within the original legal limits. Furthermore, the open land fronting Terhune Road is within the residential zone as is the case all around the shopping center area.

According to the latest news, the present generation of planners and city officials does not care to control the flood and seems to have decided to blow the dam. What will be the extent of the flood? "Apres nous le deluge," and "Sauve qui peut" seems to be in order.

The approval for a new commercial building on Terhune Road without due consideration for traffic and needed increase of parking area well integrated with the present system, and the approval for an addition to a present building also reducing the present parking area, is a sign of total irresponsibility by Princetonians who pretend to protect the past, present and future of Princeton. Once more "the real truth is hidden reality."

For the record, referring to the origin and location of the Princeton Township Shopping Center during my term as Chairman of the Planning Board, I wish to state that I had occasions to discuss and argue constructively with the promoter of the shopping center. For example, Mr. Theodore Potts was good enough to 1) change the location and size of the shopping center area from a hill top to a valley, thus protecting as much as possible the general Princeton landscape. The new proposed commercial building will be on high ground level; 2) abide by a good ratio between building area and open space for circulation, parking and planting; 3) accept my proposal for a gift to the Township of a 100 foot right-of-way for Harrison Street as a proper approach to the shopping center area instead of insisting on the usual 60 foot right-of-way.

That act of generosity resulted in a more dignified and safer approach without signal lights or permanent police duty to control thhe traffic; 4) donate to the Township the acreage along the back of the shopping center for use as park and recreation area. According to the present trend, I will not be surprised to see that area covered soon with commercial buildings.

The so-called "upper street" right-of-way now mentioned is in reality the only access to that park and recreation area, and was never intendent to be an extension of Valley Road as ignorantly and stupidly stated. For safety reasons the function of Valley Road is to start at Witherspoon and terminate at the North gate of the shopping center.

The total area of the shopping center was conceived with two accesses from Harrison Street, and far enough from Terhune Road for a good general traffic system. Terhune Road was conceived as an independent local by-pass and as a feeder toward the center of the community from the North, East and West.

It was conceived as a relief and an escape from congested Nassau Street, thinks to the independent shopping center area, without a ribbon type of commercial buildings along its right-of-way. The proposed A&P store is the beginning of the worst.

The use of an arbitary name as "Kingsdale" Road in place of Terhune Road was an image describing one of its functions which will be to join Kingston and Rosedale through a residential and open space area, commercial buildings being excluded.

By contrast and for the worst, the proposed A & P store with new accesses, services approach and an insufficient parking area announces the most chaotic situation around the intersection of Terhune and Harrison.

The A & P Company did not care when all needed free space was available at the time of the projected shopping center. Should the entire Princeton Township and community suffer and pay forever due to such lack of foresight?

L. Hornberger's, with more foresight, had thesame opportunity as the A&P and selected a generous space, accepting the zoning regulations proper for Princeton. Why then those present references to their larger stores located somewhere else in places so different from Princeton as to site and milieu? Why not a more strict selection of merchandise proper to Princeton resulting in a need for additional space and better business? After all, a junk yard takes more physical space than a showroom.

Painted images of projected buildings can be misleading or senseless compared to reality.

The above is not a judgment of the present appearance of the shopping center's building. I gave my judgment during a tour of inspection of the area involved at construction time and directly to the over-enthusiastic architect in charge, a judgment which he took well, — "Even a baby skunk smells sweet to his mother." Fortunately by now roses and split fences offer a most agreeable effect, — the result of time and care. Will Princetonians continue to take care of Princeton?

I hope the above historical facts will be considered as information for well-intentioned people and as scarecrow for others.

Sincerely,
JEAN LABATUT

346 Snowden Lane

Witherspoon St., Attention!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Recently the Borough Shade Tree Commission planted 15 young Callery Pear Trees on Witherspoon Street and Griggs Service Station added 2 more at the Hulfish — Witherspoon Corner. I am writing to urge the merchants on Witherspoon Street to keep an eye on these young trees during the hot, dry summer months. Two buckets of water per week poured slowly on the tree nearest their doors could well mean the difference between life and death if the present drought conditions persist.

I know the store owners and the general public are vitally concerned for the shade trees on borough streets. Everyone who visits Princeton is impressed and delighted by their appearance, but many of our finest specimens are fully mature now and our problems is to have young trees coming along to replace them in the not too distant future.

Many areas in town need study and planned development. We hope to improve our shade trees, and we count on the continued interest and support of the public — may we count specifically on that of the Witherspoon merchants this summer?

RICHARD COLMAN
Chairman Borough Shade Tree Commission

Police Tips on Night-Time Safety for Women

Residents throughout the Princeton area were shocked at the recent report of a Township woman who was abducted about midnight in front of her home by two men, driven away in a car and then raped.

What precautions should women who go out at night take to prevent such attacks? TOWN TOPICS asked Borough Police Lieut. Francis Maguire, who gave the following preventive measures:

Foremost, whenever possible, always travel at night with an escort. This offers the greatest protection against attack. If you are visiting friends, have a male adult escort you home, just as he would a baby-sitter.

Before you leave a house late at night, have someone check your car to make sure no one is hiding in the back seat.

When you leave, call ahead to say so. In this way, someone at home will be waiting and will be able to alert the police if you are late in arriving.

Lock your car and roll up all the windows high enough so that no one can get his head inside.

Never leave your car. If you discover you are being followed, head for the nearest police station — or for a more-populated, heavily-traveled area where it will be easier to locate a patrol car.

If you have any reason to call police, do so immediately. Don't wait until the trail gets cold.

Lieut. Maguire warns against carrying a weapon of any kind. Charges of doing so unlawfully can result.

Noting that in today's world, women go out alone almost as if they were men, Lieut. Maguire warned of the chances they take. "Girls who have plans should not meet them somewhere but should expect to be called for," he declared.

"The police have noticed more and more women driving alone as late as 3 a.m.," he said. "They should be made aware that such things as criminal attacks can happen to them — crime is a fact of life not only in a big city but in smaller towns as well."

Representing the Borough Administration were Dr. Chester R. Stroup; Mr. and Mrs. William Rhodes; Mr. and Mrs. William K. Evans; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lummis; and Mr. and Mrs. B. Woodhull Davis.

Retired teachers and former members of the Witherspoon staff included Mrs. Fanny Leonard; Mrs. Kathryn Baum; Mr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Potter; Mrs. Bertha Follins; Mrs. Thomas Cain; Miss Dorothy Compton; Miss Helen Derrohn; Mrs. Carolyn Gates; and Mrs. Irene Scruggs. Representatives of the Borough P.T.A. were Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter and Mrs. Robert Parmenter.

The dinner meeting was run by Philip Cobb, who presented a gift to Mr. Waxwood. Mrs. Sarah B. Harris presented a gift to Mrs. Waxwood. Speaking in tribute were Dr. Chester Stroup, superintendent of schools; B. Woodhull Davis, former superintendent of schools; and Mrs. Sarah Strayer, borough board president.

Members of the faculty committee who arranged the gathering were Mrs. Sarah B. Harris, chairman; Mrs. Viola Connerly, Mrs. Margaret Lutz and Mrs. Alice Reed.

PARKING LOT REFERRED To Planning Board. Princeton University's application for a recommendation for a variance to construct and maintain a parking lot at the rear of the Nassau Street School was referred last week by the Borough Zoning Board to the Planning Board. The latter was asked to consider what effect the proposed use would have upon the present and future zoning plans for that area.

The lot is a divided one, the front two-thirds lying in a business zone and the rear third, the portion bordering on William Street, in a residential zone. As outlined by Frank Reiche, attorney for the University, the lot would provide space for 93 cars. Entrance and exit would be from two areas on William Street.

Presently, the school is being used by the University to house its Creative Arts Courses. Under the University's plan of so equi-distance walk to parking lots for all its employees, it would be used by personnel working in Murray-Dodge and Clio Halls. Those designated to use it were described as "all-day parkers" who would generate little traffic except in the morning and around 5 o'clock.

John Morton, Director of Physical Planning for the University, said there would be less congestion on William Street in the morning than before, when mothers used to drop off their school children. He conceded the situation would be reversed at 5 o'clock but he felt that 93 cars added to the 9,000 that use heavily traveled Washington Road would be "a drop in the bucket."

Pointing out that the University paid over half a million dollars for the Nassau School property, Mr. Moran said that "at some time in the future, this building should be replaced with a commercial property and then separated from the rear portion of the lot."

The building itself, he added, was relatively useless. "The University is not putting any money into it."

Four Mercer Adjourned. In an earlier application, the University was stymied for the second time in a month in its attempt to move its real estate offices from Lower Pyne to the second floor of the building at 4 Mercer Street.

Its application for a recommendation for a variance was adjourned until the September meeting Board chairman Robert J. Sullivan reported, after the board had met in executive session with its attorney F. Lowell Curran, that because of the legal technicalities the board needed additional guidance. He invited the attorneys—Mr. Reiche for the University and Seymour Montgomery, representing Mrs. Ann Yandell of 11 Mercer, who is opposed to the University's move—to submit memoranda of law 10 days prior to the next meeting.

"I assure you, I don't like to prolong these decisions any more than any one else," Mr. Sullivan remarked, "but this is a very difficult matter to determine. We feel this is best for all parties."

Earlier in the month, the University had sought a special permit under Section 12A-1 of the zoning ordinance which deals with the exclusive use of a building by a non-profit organization. However, the Board ruled that since the lower floor was occupied by Town Topics, it was not "exclusive use" and that the University could not receive relief under that particular section of the ordinance.

Last week, the board again questioned whether it could hear the University a second time because there did not appear to be any "material difference" from the case presented previously.

Commented Mr. Curran, "The board is puzzled that there has been no appeal to the past decision. The relief you'd now ask, you asked for before." He questioned whether an applicant could come before the board "piecemeal"; whether, where he had been denied under one section he could then come in later and ask for the same use under another.

For the University, Mr. Reiche insisted the Board had not fully considered the substance of his case the first time, merely its jurisdiction. The board did not hear the case on its merit", he said.

He continued: "We were asked to confine ourselves to one limited point: whether our application fell within Section 12A-1 or not. Having done so, having been restricted to that one point and then be told we should not be able to come before this board again represents a hardship.

"How can we say the facts have not changed? How do we know? They were never discussed."

'Yes' To Two. In two other cases, the board granted Miss Suzanne Siegrist permission to operate a dress-making business at 11 Greenview Avenue, and the Witherspoon Art & Book Store, 12 Nassau Street to hang a sign on the corner of Nassau and Bank Street, directing clientele to its side entrance.

The later variance was based on hardship. The owners pointed out that there was no way for passers-by readily to see the entrance to their basement store. Facing Nassau Street, is is located 47 feet in on Bank Street. The front of the basement is occupied by a women's apparel shop.

BAND TO PLAY

On High School Campus. A concert will be presented by the Princeton Community Band on Friday evening. The program is scheduled to begin at 7:30 on the front campus of Princeton High School.

Included in the selections to be played are three Sousa marches and other well-known tunes. In all, the band will perform nine numbers.

These include Manhattan Beach, Reprise for Band, Holiday for Trombones, Liberty Bell, Gershwin, Blue Tango, Bye-Bye Birdie, El Capitan, and the National Anthem.

QUEEN SOUGHT

For State Fair. Entries are now open to single girls between the ages of 18 and 25 for the "Miss New Jersey State Fair" contest. Entry deadline for the contest has been set for July 30, with applications available at Arnold Constable Department Store in Trenton.

The winning contestant will receive a $250 savings bond, a week's stay at the Midtown Motel, a wardrobe from Arnold Constable and the "Miss New Jersey State Fair" crown and trophy. Preliminary judging will take place at Arnold-Constable with the ten finalists appearing at the fair in a pageant at 2 p.m. on Saturday, September 17, which marks the opening of the fair.

Contestants will be judged in two divisions, wearing bathing suits and wearing evening gowns. Judging will be based on beauty of face and figure, health and care of body, symmetry of figure, stage presence and scholastic ability.

DECISION THURSDAY

On Peterson Charge. Lawrence Township Magistrate Edmund Z. Potkay is scheduled to hand down his decision on Thursday concerning the charges brought by Township zoning officer Mark A. Cermele against Charles Peterson Jr., owner of a plant nursery on Route 206.

Mr. Peterson has been charged with selling produce not actually growing on his nursery and with illegally expanding his produce and fruit stand. Nearby residents have been attempting to have the nursery closed since Mr. Peterson constructed his greenhouse two years ago, claiming it is an illegal intrusion of business into their neighborhood.

Mr. Peterson denies the charges. "I know what I am doing is legally right. They're trying to make it look as if I'm some sort of criminal."

Calls that come at awkward times, use bogus contests as "come-ons," or promise everything and the moon are a nuisance. We are not in favor of them.

When done properly, telephone selling can be a source of interesting news about products and prices. But we are concerned about those cases which cause annoyance to our customers.

That's why we point out to telephone canvassers that an offended person isn't likely to buy; and why we urge them to call only bonafide prospects, avoid mealtimes and identify themselves quickly and honestly, avoiding disguised or indirect approaches.

WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT OFFENSIVE SALES CALLS: If you aren't interested, or are offended by the manner of the canvasser, say good-bye and hang up. Remember, you are in control of your telephone. The caller will certainly get your message—if you don't want his.

HOW MANY TIMES HAVE I TOLD YOU: In summer, the flow of advice from adult to youngster increases as a result of the greater contact and much of it, no doubt, in the minds of those on the receiving end is gratuitous. Ted Norin (left) and Wayne Olsen of Griggstown give examples.

Question of the Week

Question: What bit of advice from adults do you object to most?

Where Asked: Nassau Street

Ted Norin, Griggstown, freshman, Franklin Township High School: When they tell me to work around the house — I'm lazy! But I don't get away with it. I work.

Wayne Olsen, Griggstown, junior, Franklin Township High School: I object to their old fashioned ways. They're always telling us what to wear and when I want to let my hair grow longer they tell me I have to have it cut short, or else!

Jimmy Ware, 98 Birch Avenue, PHS senior: When they keep saying not to stay out late. I'd like to be able to stay out as late as I want to.

Larry Dixon, 347 Mount Lucas Road, freshman, Solebury: They keep saying my attitude is wrong on just about everything. They claim I have a warped sense of humor, that I'm a sadist and everything I do is surrealistic.

Leroy Holden, 98 Birch Avenue, PHS senior: I object to their always telling me not to come up town. They say I come up too much. Why do I keep coming? Because there is nothing else to do.

Dore Levy, 102 Russell Road, eighth grader, PDS: How to spend my money!

Noah Levy, 102 Russell Road, fifth grader, PDS: How to figure out a math problem.

They don't want you to be progressive. They like to stick to tradition. They're always saying, 'When I was young, we did thus and thus.'

Mark Herman, Roosevelt, seventh grader: They're always telling me to clean up and do chores.

Betty Hammond, Kingston, Franklin Township High School: I don't object to adults giving advice because they have more experience and should know what is better. One thing I do object to, though, is their giving advice without listening to what the teenager thinks about a certain question.

Sue Hinkson, Mount Lucas Road, PHS sophomore: I don't like them telling me what to do when I have just asked them to do something else. And I don't like them telling me I can't do something when I know I have the ability to do it.

Jeff Hobbs, The Hun School, junior: They are always complaining about my long hair and rock 'n roll groups.

John Lesko, Long Island, high school junior: Their opinion on styles in clothing. They don't dig 'em. I don't like it when they want us to be like they were when they were kids. As an example, a cop pulled me in for loitering and said, 'When I was a kid, we went in at 9 o'clock.'

Jim Hitchcock, NYC, eighth grader: Every time they see you without a book they say, instead of playing around you should be studying. They keep after me all the time to study.

They're mixed up. They want to do it the old way. Both ways are efficient but I perfer to do it my way.

Tel Parsells, 36 Princeton Avenue, PHS freshman: They always object that my pants are too tight and my hair is in my eyes. And when you go out for a date, they always insist that the boy must come to the door and meet you.

John Moore, 21 Hun Road, PDS: None. I'd say the advice I get from adults generally turns out to be pretty good.

Beckie Wert, 6 Hodge Road, PHS freshman: I object to too much strictness, like always being "grounded" (confined to the house, no phone calls and no TV) for coming home late for dinner, I can't go up town more than four times a month. I have an 11 o'clock curfew. I object to always being told my pants are too tight and that I talk very cheap, that I drop my l-s-g's.

Pete Juley, Washington Crossing Road, Hopewell Township, Hopewell Valley High School: About going to college. Usually, they want you to get into a good college so you will make more money when you get out. I feel they put too much emphasis on making money. There are other things just as important.

Linda Fox, 35 Hamilton Avenue, PHS freshman: Do it now, and then you'll have the rest of the day to yourself.

Keith Landauer, 58 Aiken Avenue, fifth grade, John Witherspoon School: I object to, 'Keith, don't forget to tell me where you are going.' They always want to know where I am.

Ellen Asnis, Lawrence Township: I object to their wanting us to be like their generation.

This new Mercedes-Benz sedan gives you all the roominess of other $6400 cars—without an ounce of fat. You ride on a fully independent suspension, stop with 4-wheel disc brakes. Result: the 250S outpaces the $6400 fat cats as an athlete outpaces a gang of fat men. Read more about it more about it ... neered machine, built for driving.

EXCESS size and weight in a car may tickle your vanity, but they sabotage performance.

The practical-minded men who designed the Mercedes-Benz 250S refused to pad this machine with needless bulk. It weighs a ton less than its overweight rivals. It's two feet shorter overall.

Yet inside, five adults find plentiful seating room. More rear seat hiproom than the newest Rolls-Royce. More headroom than a Lincoln Continental. More shoulder room than an Oldsmobile Toronado.

Four secrets: Narrower doors, side windows that curve into the roof, recessed floor pan—and a ban on styling that cuts passenger space.

Designed around its occupants and not a "styling theme," the new Mercedes-Benz 250S sedan provides plentiful room for five—and 87% unobstructed visibility for the driver. A refreshingly sane car. Clip the coupon for a free brochure.

Safety an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a moral obligation, not a public relations problem. Some results of this view:

The 250S body itself is a safety feature. The center section where you ride is rigid. Front and rear ends are designed to crumple on violent impact and absorb shock (the less shock you receive, the less threat of serious injury).

Possible interior hazards have been padded, recessed, or made of pliable material such as rubber. The steering wheel hub is a big padded plate. The instrument panel is padded to protect your head and your knees. The rearview mirror, springmounted in its socket, snaps away if struck.

These features and many more are found in all Mercedes-Benz cars—and were there long before the current "safety controversy."

Upbeat ending: The $6400 price includes power-assisted steering and brakes and automatic transmission. A simplified 250S can be yours for $5747.

Fundamentals, not gimmicks

You invest in superior engineering with the 250S, not trivial doodads.

For example, you ride on a suspension that makes most other $6400 sedans seem like museum pieces. It's fully independent; the rear axle is split into two halves to blot up bumps and grip the road as no conventional "solid rear axle" can.

Mercedes-Benz swing axle pivots in center, lets rear wheels flex separately over bumps.

Tenacious road holding and taut, wallow-free ride are musts for European driving. As you'll find on curves, country lanes and in city traffic, they translate beautifully to American conditions.

Note: An ingenious hydropneumatic compensating spring automatically pumps up to keep the 250S riding level, regardless of loads. Even if you add 600 pounds to the trunk, the stern won't sink.

Stopping made easy

Large 14-inch wheels let Mercedes-Benz engineers fit large brakes to the 250S.

And remarkable brakes they are—10.8-inch discs in front, 11-inch discs at rear, and a total of 430 square inches of swept brake area.

"The car has enormous stopping power," says Car and Driver Magazine. And it stays enormous—even after repeated panic stops. A small valve in the 250S brake system balances front and rear braking forces to prevent rear wheel lockup in sudden hard stops.

Not a blunderbuss

Since the 250S isn't an oversized behemoth, it doesn't need an oversized behemoth of an engine to propel it.

At that, the overhead camshaft 6-cylinder engine up front is hardly puny; you can purr along at over 100 mph as long as it's legal.

"There is as little inside noise at 100 mph as at a standstill," comments New York Herald Tribune columnist, Leo Levine.

This engine is one of the most exquisitely well built machines of its kind in the world. After hours of patient hand assembly, it undergoes a patient hour of all-out testing on a special stand—with oil changed 62 times to flush away debris.

Built to last

You can reasonably expect years of uncomplaining service from the 250S.

Rattles are squelched by a body welded at 10,000 points. Rust is thwarted with 24 lbs. of primer paint and 24 lbs. of a thick, plasticized permanent undercoat. And every 250S body spends 3 hours being hammered, filed, sanded and buffed before painting.

"One is automatically impressed with the obvious high quality of every single switch, gauge, control, carpet, and piece of upholstery," comments Car and Driver on the 250S interior. "The seats are as good as any in the world." A three-way adjustment raises, lowers or tilts the front seats to any desired position—even horizontal, for catnaps.

Comfortable note: Rear-seat passengers aren't afterthoughts in the 250S. They sit high enough for a clear view of the road ahead, on a divan-type seat as relaxing on long trips as those up front.

ELECTRIC ROCKETS?

Princeton Scientists Study. Princeton University scientists are looking beyond the "close" planets or possible targets for space exploration, and are investigating electric propulsion as a means of reaching them.

Prof. Robert G. Jahn, director of the Electric Propulsion Laboratory on the James Forrestal Campus, explained that the biggest obstacle to long-distance space travel is the amount of fuel needed by the present-day fuel-combustion rocket to propel even a very small payload. The fuel used now has enough thrust and acceleration, but it is too heavy to be used in the large quantities necessary for long trips.

Professor Jahn added that although the acceleration possible through an electric propulsion system is too small to put a rocket in orbit outside the earth's atmosphere, once a rocket is outside, an electric system would be able to drive it deep into space.

"The goal of our laboratory," Dr. Jahn said, "is to aim at basic research tasks that government and industrial laboratories can't do. We are trying to look ahead and uncover the fundamental data that design engineers will need in 10 or 15 years when the time comes to plan an actual spacecraft."

Lawrence M. Brown

Providing support for this project, already in its fourth year, is the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Research at the propulsion laboratory is part of Princeton's program in the department of aerospace and mechanical sciences.

So far the program has uncovered a method known as "plasma pinch," where ionization of gases between electrodes in a vacuum chamber creates s very high current. According to Prof. Jahn, this method, in theory, should provide exhaust velocities of up to 200,000 feet per second, 20 times greater than anything possible with a chemicel rocket.

While this would add power to the rocket thrust, there is one drawback — weight. Producing electric power in the millions of watts, Dr. Jahn says, is equivalent to putting a huge generating plant in orbit. So far, little research has been conducted on how to produce electric power with a minimum of weight. This is one of the problems the propulsion laboratory is attempting tosolve.

JUNIOR LEADERS NAMED

In Community Tennis. Twenty-nine junior leaders have been selected to help instruct the community tennis program, which held its organizational meeting Friday. At the meeting Ed Faulkner, former Davis Cup coach, gave the new teachers advice on how to instruct tennis. He will return on July 15 for a clinic which will be open to the public.

Promoted to the position of assistant instructor on the basis of their years of work in the program were Anne Breinall, Debbie Endersby, Alan Kelly, Ken Kraft, Jon Coddington, Liz Hoffman, Isabel Sloanne, Harry Stokes and John Valentine.

Designated as junior leaders to help beginners, advanced beginner and intermediate classes were Andy Benson, Kevin Curtis, Karen Fitzpatrick, Ted Fritsch, Henry Harbison, Peter Heinemann, Mike Jameson, Nancy King, Ken Klothen, Derry Light, Sam McCleery, Hollis McLoughlin, Denys Oberman, Chris O'Connor, Lee Reech, Anne Rimalover, Caitan Schuele, Terry Scheehan, Carol Westcott and Nancy Wise.

A third group will volunteer their services this summer with a goal of eventually becoming junior leaders. They include Laurie Bloom, Barbie Cohen, Duncan Brown, Erica Dumpel, Kathy Fox, Richard Kendall, Mary Lapidus, Mike McConnell, Marilyn McConnell, Richie Oberman, Andy O'Connor, Nora Olgay, Christine Punnett, Cindy Shoemaker, Robbie Sommenschein and Peter Worthington.

RESIDENTS SCORE

In Tennis Tournaments. Mary Lapidus and Claudia Levin teamed-up for the Pennsylvania State Junior Girl's Championships at Philmont Country Club to win the doubles trophy for girls 14 and under. Mary also advanced to the semi-finals of the singles competition for her age group before losing. Debbie Endersby entered in the 18-and-under singles and doubles competition, received an honorable mention for her sportsmanship.

In the Philadelphia District Junior Championships for boys, Ken and Steve Kraft entered the 18-and-under doubles event and the 16-and-under singles competition respectively. Both finished runners-up in the finals.

On tap for this week is an exchange match for junior players in the community program at Spring Lake Country Club. Others from here will compete in the Keystone State tournament in Narbeth, Pa.

MRS. BLAIR WINS

In Ladies' Golf. Mrs. James C. Blair, Clover Lane, defeated Mrs. J. S. Thornton Lovers' Lane in the final match of the week-long women's spring tournament of the Springdale Golf Club last week to win the title.

Mrs. Donald A. Fruland, Lawrenceville, won the first flight of the tournament's "Beaten Eight" as Mrs. Karl D Pettit, Jr., Bayard Lane, was runner-up. The second flight of the beaten eight was won by Mrs. John L. Lesher, Jr., Valley Road, with Miss Margaret Regan, William Street, the runner-up.

NAVY TOPS GREEN, 5-3

In Summer Lacrosse. Opening contests in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League last week found the Navy team defeating the Green team, 5-3, and Blue battling Red to a 4-4 tie.

Scoring for Navy were Bob Kidolfi, who had a pair of goals, and Rich Stewart, Pete Maggio and Dave Leete. Bob Pettit's pair and a single tally by John Petito accounted for all the scoring by the losers.

Sam Stewart, former Princeton High School student now attending North Carolina, earned scoring honors for the evening with three Blue goals and an assist. George Rohrbacher rammed home the fourth goal, and George Alexander was credited with an assist. Both were members of the 1966 PHS lacrosse team.

Holt Murray and Bob Sullivan were responsible for all four Red goals, each scoring twice, and Bob Gertman added an assist.

Games are played every Thursday evening at 5:30 at Marquand Park.

ORC WINS ONE

On 25th Try. It finally happened. After failing to win a single softball game in 16 contests last season and dropping the first eight decisions of this season in the Business Softball League, Opinion Research Corporation rallied in the final inning to upset American Cyanamid, 5-4.

With two outs in the last of the seventh inning and Cyanamid leading, 4-3, Al Tyson singled in two runs to give ORC its first victory in 25 games. Credit for the triumph went to hurler Tim Ellard. Ron Ryan, ORC manager, reports that his team will get new uniforms to fit their new winning ways.

In other league action, Western Electric clinched ant of a tie for last place in the Eastern Division by beating Colmmbian Carbon, 6-3. Bill DeHaven was the winning pitcher. He was supported by nine hits, two of them home runs by Frank Panella and Jeff Gage.

RCA A continued to hang onto first place in the Western Division by trouncing Shell Oil, 8-1. Although Shell collected nine hits in the contest, the pitching of Bob Nielsen and the defensive glovework by shortstop Ed Lopatin and the RCA outfield put an end to repeated threats. John Meyer led the RCA offensive attack with a 2 for 3 night, while Lopatin and Walt Hicinbothem both went 2 for 3.

Accelerator remained in contention for the Western league crown by up-ending Educational Testing Service, 6-4. A three-run rally in the seventh inning by ETS came too late to offset Accelerator's early lead, built up on the strength of ten hits, including a double and a triple by Joe Frangipani. Jack Bartow was credited with the decision.

Elsewhere around the circuit, RCA Astro handed Hopewell TV a 12-8 setback and RCA B edged by McGraw-Hill, 15-12, in a rescheduled game.

FINAL GAME

In Windsor Little League, Thorne's Pharmacy and Ellsworth AC were scheduled to meet this week in the final game of the season in the West Windsor Little League with the winner taking home the championship.

Thorne's, managed by Guy Watlington, and Ellsworth, managed by John Ellsworth, have been battling each other down to the wire all season. At the end of the first half, the teams met in a special playoff to decide a tie and Ellsworth won the first half title by scoring a close 7-6 win.

In the final and decisive game of the second half last week, Thorne's gained revenge for its first-half loss by stymieing Ellsworth 10-1. The two teams have also qualified for the President's Cup and have played two games to date.

In the last week's 16-1 contest, Thorne's Marty Clark and Larry Fowler both connected for home runs. Adding more offensive punch were Denny Clark, John Cross and Bob Stives who combined for seven hits. Marty Clark struck out 12 Ellsworth batters to get credit for the victory.

In the first play-off earlier in the season, Ellsworth hurler Peter Zigler allowed only two singles and struck out 11 to gain the triumph. Mark Ellsworth and Zigler both singled twice to lead the attack.

In the second play-off game, Marty Clark again won for Thorne's with his mound work with hitting support from Kevin Dalton and Denny Clark a seven-run fifth inning was the big uprising in the 12-run attack.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED

In Junior Golf Tourney. Bill Flaherty, 19 Sergeant Street, fired an 86 on the Princeton Country Club course to take first place in the Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament and win the right to participate in the state tournament to be held in Morristown on July 13 and 14.

Flaherty and Rick Shreve, co-chairmen of the Princeton tournament, will go to Morristown Tuesday for a practice round before the state event gets under way. The four low scorers in the state tournament will compete in the international Jaycee golf championship scheduled for Greensboro, N. C., later this summer.

Bruce Campbell, who shot an 88, was first runner-up in the Princeton event and John Barclay, who had an 89, finished second runner-up. They will receive trophies.

Also winning prizes, donated by the Nassau Savings and Loan Association, were Brad Aiman, Norman Anderson and Mike Dunlap. Under a handicap system they returned net scores of 78, 78 and 79 respectively.

Even though your electric bills may be higher, ELECTRICITY COSTS LESS TODAY THAN IN 1940!
Think of all the appliances you've added since 1940 — appliances that save you countless hours of work and bring a whole world of entertainment and comfort into your home. Our point is, the average home uses more than four times the amount of electricity today than it did 25 years ago. But the combination of rate reductions and increased use of electricity has resulted in a 43% decrease in the average unit cost of electricity since 1940! Yes, when it comes to electricity, the "good old days" have progressed to "better new ones".
